METHODISTS WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

Virginia Conference Will Gather in The City of Danville.

131st ANNUAL SESSION.

Question of Changing Name Among Many Other Matters to be Considered at Gathering.

Danville Va., Nov. 3.—The honor of acting as host to the next religious gathering at Danville will fall to the pastor and membership of the Main Street Methodist Church. Beginning on Tuesday, November 11, the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, will hold the 131st annual session of that body at Danville.

The regular time appointed for the meeting of this conference was Wednesday, November 12th, but owing to the additional amount of business to be transacted on account of the election of delegates to the general conference which will be held at Oklahoma City, in May, 1914, the time for the convening of the Virginia conference was advanced one day.

When the plan of Episcopal visitation was made for this year, Bishop Alpheus W. Wilson, of Baltimore, was appointed to preside over the coming session of the Virginia conference, and he may be present, but owing the fact that he is not well, Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, will probably preside.

Aside from the interest which always centers in the election of delegates to the general conference, the fact that six of the ten presiding elders have completed the four consecutive years of service on the districts they now serve, and must, in keeping with the "time limit" of the church, receive other appointments, constitutes another feature of interest to this session of the conference.

Two other questions to become prominently before the body will be the vote as to whether the name of the church shall be changed at the next session of the general conference, and the expression of opinion regarding the recent endowment which Andrew Carnegie offered to the medical department of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., and which the majority of the trustees of the University and the college of bishops decline to receive, which the chancellor, Dr. James H. Kirkland, and the minority of the trustees desire to receive. The matter of this endowment will probably be brought before the conference in the form of a resolution, while that of the expresson regarding the change of the name the church will come under the head of disciplinary requirement, the general conference having specified during the session of 1910 that in the year 1913 the presiding bishop of every conference shall secure the vote of the body on this question, the vote to be reported to the general conference next year.

MAY ESTABLISH NEW PLANT.

Edelstein Manufacturing Company Seeking Labor Conditions.

That a new plant may be established here which will give several hundred girls and women employment depends upon whether or not the help can be secured. W. Edelstein, of the Edelstein Manufacturing Company of Baltimore, was here today conferring with officials of the Chamber of Commerce as to the possibility of securing sufficient help.

An advertisement is published in today's Gazette for girls who would like to secure employment. According to Mr. Edelstein, the work will be sewing on athletic underwear in a pleasant shop which will be secured. He states that the work is light, power sewing machines being used for the heavy work. Applicants are requested to call at the Chamber of Commerce between 9 and 1 o'clock and 2 and 5 o'clock for the next three days.

Every Democrat should not forget to vote at tomorrow's election. See list of polling places on local page.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Furness Line freight steamer Manchester Commerce, which left Montreal Friday for Manchester, England, struck an iceberg early Saturday morning in the strait of Belle Isle and sustained severe damage. The steamer, however, was not disabled, and Captain Couch was able to shape her course for St. Johns, Newfoundland, the nearest port, where she will be docked for repairs.

Demand for a salary of $10,000 a year for Superintendet of Washington Schools Davidson will be made on the floor of the House by Representative James A. Aswell, of Louisiana, according to a statement by him. Mr. Aswell announced that he will do all in his power to retain the educator as head of the Washington schools. As a last resort Mr. Aswell advocates that the Washington school children be called upon for a contribution "in order that Congress be shamed into giving what it should have provided long ago."

Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, of Bristol, Conn., mother of three little children, was found guilty of murder in the first degree for her part in the killing of her husband, William, last June. Evidence in the trial showed that Mrs. Wakefield and her paramour, James Plew, conspired to get rid of Wakefield. While Mrs. Wakefield took her children out for a walk, Plew partly drugged her husband, took him out for a walk for several miles and then shot him to death. A knife was driven in the body and a rope placed around the neck to give the appearance of suicide. Plew pleaded guilty to homicide under an ancient statute, which permits the court to fix the degree of guilt.

The incomes of many New York financiers from directors' fee alone would be sufficient to keep the wolf from their doors. The usual fee paid by the larger corporations for attending a meeting is $20, though a few pay more, and the majority of the corporation distribute tens and five among "those present." There are probably scores whose fees amount yearly to $4,000 to $5,000, and several who thus add $8,000 to $10,000 to their pocket change. The largest income from this source—approximately $13,500 annually—is enjoyed by a close associate of the late "Czar of Wall street." This gentleman is a director of fifty-seven railroads, banking, and industrial corporations.

At least seven people are supposed to be dead as the result of an explosion in Loveland's five-story brick warehouse in North Front street, Hartford, Conn., early yesterday morning, when the walls of the building toppled on the roofs of two adjoining wooden tenement houses. The cause of the explosion has not yet been learned, but there was a fire immediately after it that was soon extinguished.

The satchel which Thomas Fielder Bowie Claggett of Upper Marlboro, lost on his wedding day, October 18, was found by Thomas Shepherd, colored, and returned to Mr. Claggett yesterday. The satchel fell out of the automobile in which Mr. Claggett and his bride were making the journey from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bowie, the bride's parents, near Mitchellsville, to the steamboat wharf in Washington. The satchel was dropped while passing through Mr. Bowie's farm and rolled into the ditch.

One man was burned beyond recognition and a second was badly seared by fire which broke out at the club-10 Social, on Dark Head creek, a branch of Middle river, Md., early yesterday morning. Five of the members were sleeping in the structure, and only the providential awakening of one saved the whole party from cremation. The dead man is Bernard H. Morgreth, 23 years old.

Miss Ann Lowry, 56 years old, formerly a member of the Benedictine order of Nuns, and W. R. Cunningham ,79 years old, have married at Ritzville, Wash. Two years ago in Guthrie, Sister Jusaina, as Miss Lowry was known, withdrew from the Benedictine order. Her case was reported through the press and reached Cunningham, who was an editor in Ritzville. He wrote an editorial on Sister Justina. This led to the correspondence and a meeting.

VIRGINIA TROOPS ARE FIRST CLASS

Will be Among The First Called Out in Case of War With Mexico.

DISCIPLINE IS HIGH.

One Hundred and Fifteen Thousand Men Are Desired For The Infantry Arm of Service.

Washington, Nov. 3.—It has been unofficially learned that the Virginia troops will be among the first to be ordered to Mexico from the East if any State soldiers are called for, although it is understood that, so far as possible, no distinction in the selection of the different commands will be made. It is recognized, however, that where the troops of one State are unqualifiedly better than those in another, the former would be chosen. The United States does not want any green troops, and has no time for training such men as will be called for, should the exigency of war demand the ordering out of the militia. As the Virginians are recognized as among the best drilled, and disciplined in the United States, they would, under the circumstances mentioned, be among the first to be called.

An army of 115,000 men is what the infantry arm of the service has asked of the Secretary of War. The necessity for this increase is set forth in detail by the Infantry Journal, which says that this would permit the formation within the United States of a mobile army of three infantry divisions of twenty-seven regiments, and seven regiments of field artillery. This increase also contemplates raising the number of men in the infantry companies from sixty-five to 100. The former is at present the minimum on a peace footing.

It is asserted that in time of emergency when companies are raised to the war strength of 150 men, the addition of so many untrained men destroys the efficiency of the troops, and prevents their prompt employment just at a time when they are most needed, besides the smaller number prevents the proper training of men and officers.

On the basis of the proposed increase, the mobile army, exclusive of the Coast Artillery and troops serving beyond the seas, would consist of 35,000 infantry, 12,000 cavalry, 5,400 field artillery, 2,200 auxiliary troops, a total of 54,600 men, or an enlisted man to every 1,000 population. It shows that the strength of mobile armies in other countries compared to the population is as follows: Great Britain, 1 to every 205; Germany, 1 to every 70; France, 1 to every 50; Russia, 1 to every 190; Japan, to every 130. Would a mobile army in the United States of 54,600 men in time of peace be considered in any sense a large standing army, asks the Journal?

SAUSAGE STOLEN FROM CARS.

Car Thieves Still Active in Alexandria —Severe Penalty if Caught.

The severe penalty provided by Congress for the robbery of freight cars engaged in interstate traffic has not seemed to act as a deterrent to those who wish to provide themselves with merchandise handled by the railways to and from Alexandria. For the second time in the past two weeks the robbery of the car of Swift and Co., has taken place. The last attempt was made at an early hour yesterday morning when Officer Campbell, who was patrolling his beat on Union street, heard a suspicious noise coming from the vicinity of a car. An investigation showed that a lock on a side door had been broken. A thorough search of the car and surrounding premises was made but the thief had made his escape. An inventory of the contents of the car this morning showed that some boxes of sausage were missing.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The Woman's Auxiliary to R. E. Lee Camp will meet in Lee Camp Hall tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Little Boy Fatally Burned While Playing With Fire.

Carroll McCuen, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McCuen, was fatally burned in the yard of his parents home on Cameron street last Saturday morning. The little boy, in imitation of companions who had made bonfires on Hallowe'en night, procured matches and was in act of starting a blaze when his apron took fire. The child was in almost the twinkling of an eye in a blaze and his screams brought persons to his rescue. Water was thrown upon him but before the flames were subdued he was fatally burned. The child was removed to the Alexandria Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. Klopstein, but upon examination it was seen that his death was inevitable. He lingered until yesterday afternoon when death ended his sufferings. Mrs. McCuen is suffering from acute muscular rheumatism.

FESTIVAL OBSERVED.

Joyous Occasion Among Lutherans— Many Visit Baltimore.

The festival of the Reformation was observed in Immanuel Lutheran Church yesterday morning with appropriate ceremonies. It was followed by the celebration of Holy Communion.

A large number of Lutherans left yesterday for Baltimore where they attended services at the Academy of Music, in that city, where a joint reformation service was held. Dr. F. Pieper, of the Theological Seminary at St. Louis, was the principal speaker.

ACCIDENT TO AUTOISTS.

Son of Congressman Carlin Has Narrow Escape.

Charles C. Carlin, Jr., the young son of Representative Carlin, and Charles Alexander, a colored chauffeur, had a narrow escape late yesterday afternoon when a five-passenger car fell down an embankment on Mount Vernon avenue, near Braddock Heights, about a mile from the city.

Young Carlin was receiving from the chauffeur his first lesson, and was proceeding slowly, when the machine swerved. The occupants quickly realized their danger and jumped. The automobile shot down the incline and landed against a fence. The windshield was smashed and one axle was slightly bent.

Young Carlin escaped with a sprained ankle.

CAMPAIGN ENDING IN NEW YORK CITY

Contestants Are Weary Now That Election Day is At Hand.

MAY BE CLOSE RACE.

One of the Most Strenuous Political Contests in the History of the Great Metropolis.

New York, Nov. 3.—With the fusion forces rampant and feeling certain of victory and Tammany worried but still asserting they'll win, the city campaign of 1913—the most spectacular and bitterly contested in the history of the city—draws to a close today.

Ending their sensational campaigns Mr. Mitchell and Mr. McCall will make their final appeals for votes. Then the curtain will be dropped. Mr. Mitchell will speak twice. Mr. McCall will make a flying trip through the Bronx in an effort to whip Democrats into line.

All the nominees are weary. All the managers are fretful. All the leaders are anxious. All the politicians are eager to have the battle over. The weather stained veterans of a dozen city campaigns have thrown up their hands. For mud-slinging, personal assaults, violent attacks upon character and sensational allegations not backed by proof there never was a campaign like the present. The old-timers shudder at all they have heard and seen in the last three weeks, and say the so-called veteran was a "emir piker" compared with the modern politician and nominee.

No one can tell what will happen tomorrow. The polls open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 5. At 6 in the evening some idea should be had about how the vote is going. There can be no doubt that the Republicans and the other allies of the fusion movement are confident of electing the entire city ticket as well. They are sincere in this belief. All the polls they have taken support their belief. The reports of their district leaders bear it out.

SICK PEOPLE IMPROVING.

Alderman J. Marriott Hill, who has been confined to his home on Prince street for the past two weeks, was able to leave his house on last Saturday.

The condition of J M. White, who has been seriously ill at his home for the past ten days, shows a gradual improvement which is gratifying to his many friends.

George L. Appich, who is ill at his home of typhoid fever, is improving.

The condition of A. E. Smoot, who is confined to the Alexandria Hospital, remains unchanged.

Captain R. M. Latham has been confined to his home for several days, but expects to be out tomorrow, to take us his duties at commissioner of the election board in the Second Ward.

The "loan shark" law of the District of Columbia passed February 4 last, was sustained today by the District Court of Appeals, in an opinion by Chief Justice Shepard. The appellate court reverses the decision of Chief Justice Clabaugh of the District Supreme Court, which held the law discriminatory and therefore unconstitutional and void.

Every Democrat should not forget to vote at tomorrow's electon. See list of polling places on local page.

NOTICE.

Alexandrians are greatly interested in the election to be held in Mount Vernon District, Fairfax county, tomorrow, on the question of the issuance of $90,000 in bonds for the purpose of improving 33 miles of roadway leading south of Alexandria. The boat's cargo consisted of 1,000 tons and up to Saturday night about half of this quantity had been removed.

REOPENING OF PLANT.

Belle Pre Bottle Works Resume Operations.

After having been closed for more than a year the plant of the Belle Pre Bottle Company which was recently purchased by the Old Dominion Glass Company, was opened today and they manufacture of bottles resumed. Considerable interest is felt by Alexandrians in the opening of the plant, as it gives employment to several hundred hands, many of whom are expert glassblowers drawing large salaries. The company will continue the manufacture of glass milk bottles and preserving jars which was a feature of the business of the old management.

READY FOR WAR WITH MEXICO

Plans For Quick Action as Soon As Word is Given.

MOVE IN FEW HOURS.

Mutterings of European Powers Said to be Ominous—Lind is Still at Vera Cruz.

New York, Nov. 3.—The New York Sun prints today a long and detailed article from a correspondent, who, the Sun says, has spent several months along the Mexican border. The Sun says: "This correspondent has had unusual opportunities to study the exact situation and the preparations made by the United States to meet the eventuality of armed intervention. This correspondent shows that Washington has taken every precaution and that the army is ready." The dispatch follows:

El Paso, Nov. 3.—That the big European powers are becoming more and more impatient over the Mexican situation does not surprise any class of men along the American border, either official or individual, foreign or native, local or refugee. The impatience has been anticipated, seeing that the great powers concerned always have definite foreign policies where the loss of life and the destruction of property are concerned.

The first mutterings in June, the recent "pressure' and' the steps which must follow are simply regarded as the logical progress toward the inevitable, and that is intervention by the United States in the interest of peace in Mexico.

This outcome has been foreseen since the day it became apparent that the dreams and ideals of Francisco Madero could not take the place of the relentless materialism of Porfirio Diaz. Knowing the capacity of the hidalgo, or ruling class, and the character of the 18,000,000 or 20,000,000 Indian or half breed, residents along the Rio Grande border have seen for months that no other course would be left for Washington to follow ultimately, and they figure today that about four months will elapse before the real crisis will arrive. That is to give President Wilson an opportunity to try his last expedient, whatever that may be.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Reports from Vera Cruz that former Governor John Lind, of Minesota, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, is preparing to leave Mexico, gave rise today to the belief that the United States government has decided to break off all negotiations with the de facto regime of General Huerta.

Lind is now at Vera Cruz. He went there more than a month ago, when Huerta rejected the formal proposals of President Wilson for a restoration of peace in Mexico.

Since then,however, he has been in constant touch with the Mexican government through the United States embassy in Mexico City. The report that he is now about to quit the country indicates that he sees little to hope for in the way of new elections to take the place of those held October 26. Having indicated that it will be satisfied with nothnig short of new elections, free from the domination of Huerta, the United States would seem to be nearer intervention than ever.

John Barton Miller, former secretary-treasurer of the defunct First Co-Operative Building Association of Georgetown, must serve twenty years in the penitentiary, according to an opinion rendered today by the District Court of Appeals.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

STATE DEBT REDUCED.

Second Auditor Page Makes Report of Fiscal Year.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 3.—The annual report of Second Anuditor Roswell Page, showing the work in his office for the twelve months ending Sept. 30th, 1913, which embraces a statement of the public debt, the report of the commissioners of the sinking fund, the report of the literary fund, the retired teachers' fund and what is known as the Miller fund, has been submitted by Mr. Page to the Governor.

The report shows that the public debt was reduced during the twelve months $199,200, and that, besides this reduction the board of sinking fund commissioners held at the end of the fiscal year $42,385.05, which amount will go on to a further reduction of debt.

While it appears in the report that the reduction of the debt was less in 1913 than it has been in 1912, this difference is due to the fact that the annual appropriation for 1912 was reported in a lump sum ($120.000) and that in addition thereto seven monthly payments of $10,000 each were included in that report.

The report shows that the assets of the library fund during the twelve months $144,307.35, of which amount $40,000 are century bonds purchased by the literary fund from fines and $104,307.35 are represented by district school bonds for loans made by the literary fund. The cash on hand for permanent investment showed a decrease of $12,008.81, due to the fact of the above mentioned investments. There was also a decrease of $745.63 in the current cash account.

One of the noticeable things with reference to the school system of the state as shown by the report is the fact that since 1906, when the law went into effect, the state has lent from the literary fund to the school district of the Commonwealth $1,066,040.50., of which there has been paid back $282,757.42, leaving a principal outstanding of $783,283.08. This amount is being paid throughout year as it falls due and makes of the second auditor's office a great trust company, with a capital of approimately $1,000,000.

The Miller fund, which is administered into the office of the second auditor, consists of $1,446,23.83 of permanent investments, more than $1,000,000 of which is represented by what is known as a school and college certificate, one of the unfounded obligations of the State issued in pursuance of the century debt settlement act.

The retired teachers' fund has a permanent investment of $50,700 of state and city bonds and had cash on hand at the end of the fiscal year amounting to $19,220.05, an increase over the previous year of $6,250.34.

Turned Into a Rout.

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 3.—Turning what was scheduled to be a football classic into a rout, the Orange and Blue of Virginia, Saturday crested the heights perched proudly upon the brow and watched the Commodore of Vanderbilt University blanch beneath the score of 34 to 0—a far worse defeat than they had suffered at the hands of Yost's Wolverines just one Saturday gone.

WALKOVER IN VIRGINIA.

No Organized Opposition to Democratic State Candidates.

For the first time in a half century, Virginia Democrats on Tuesday will elect their candidates for Governor and other State offices without organized opposition and without being compelled to make stump speeches.

The situation is unique and without a parallel in the present generation. Henry C. Stuart, the candidate for Governor, was nominated without opposition His only opponent is a Socialist, whose name is not known to 10,000 Virginians. The Republican party, which always waged a spirited, but generally unsuccessful fight for governor, placed no ticket in the fie this year. The Progressives followed suit. Mr. Stuart, therefore, will enjoy the unusual honor of being nominated unanimously and elected governor by a practically unanimous vote—a distinction no Virginian of the present generation has achieved.

The election has only two statewide interesting features. One is the contest between the "organization" and "anti-organiation" forces at Norfolk. The other is the fight in the First State Senatorial district between L. P. Summers ,Republican and Frank Buchanan, Democrat.

Another issue, which has come to the front in only one section of the State and which will likely be waged hot and heavy before the next legislature, is prohibition. The 'drys" have twice been turned down by the General Assembly for an act which would have submitted the question of statewide prohibition to a vote of the people. The "wets" won by a narrow margin in the State Senate two years ago. The Senate holds over for the next session of the legislature, but the "wets" have heard that two senators who voted against the enabling act have been converted by the "drys" and that the Senate now stands a tie, with the balance of power in the hands of the man to be elected from the First Senatorial district to fill a vacancy.

The Democratic candidate in this district,Frank Buchanan favors submission of the prohibition question to the people. L. P. Summers, the Republican candidate, according to the "wets" is against the enabling act. Consequently the temperance and the anti-temperance forces are waging the hottest kind of campaign in Washington and Smyth counties and in the heart of the Southwest section, which is the "dry" stronghold of the State.

The "drys' 'do not concede the "wets" claim that the new Senator from the First District will have the deciding vote but nevertheless are working hard to elect the man committed to their cause.

Outside the Ninth Congressional district there is practically no opposition to the Democratic candidates for the House of Delegates. In fact, so little interest has been taken in these contests that some of the men nominated in the primaries failed to have their names placed on the ticket. notable instance of this is in Clark and Warren counties, where Aubrey Weaver, nominated by the Democrats, entirely overlooked the matter of sending in his name to the electoral board. As the result no name for the House will go on the ticket, and the Democrats will be compelled to write Weaver's name on the ballots.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE.

William Butler Admits Highway Robbery, and Gets Minimum of Eight Years.

Richmond, Nov. 3.—William Butler, a twenty-one year-old white man, pleaded guilty to the charge of highway robbery in the Hustings Court Friday, and was sentenced by Judge Richardson, after a review of the evidence to serve eight years in the penitentiary.

Butler was arraigned on two indictments. The first charged him with holding up J. W. Depkins on the night of September 6 and robbing him of $2.50 in currency. This indictment was dismissed. Another true bill charged him with robbing W. D. Turner, of $20 on September 15. The robbery occurred early on a Saturday night, near Eighteenth and Main streets, when the section was teeming with people.

In neither hold-up, it was brought out, did Butler make use of weapons. He hit his victims in the face with his fist and rifled their pockets while they were recovering from the shock. Although an investigation by detectives revealed an unfortunate early history, Butler has never before been charged with a serious offense.

RACE FOR BRIDE.

Had Secured License, But Tennessee Man Leads Her to Altar.

Bristol, Va., Nov. 3.—Since the marriage here Thursday afternoon of Joseph F. Queen, a prominent young man and East Tennessee merchant, and Miss Florence Dickey, daughter of a wealthy manufacturing druggist, it develops that the bride was to have been married to a prominent young man of Fork Union, Va., within the next few days. Licenses had been issued to both young men for marriage to Miss Dickey. Her Tennessee lover arrived here Thursday, and such plans as may have been made between the Virginian and Miss Dickey were quickly upset.

SCUFFLE ENDS IN KILLING.

Man Who Paraded Streets in Coffin Shot by Companions.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 3.—Fred Biggs, who with a number of his friends paraded around the streets of Norfolk in a coffin recentiy, was shot and killed in Davis' saloon in Plume street, Saturday by William Blunt, a companion. Davis says the shooting was accidental. Blunt had been drinking and entered the saloon with a shotgun. He is said to have pointed the weapon playfully at the bar tender when he refused to sell him any more to drink.

Diggs and Blunt grappled for the gun and it exploded, Davis said. The contents of one barrel entered Biggs' abdomen, and he died a few minutes after he reached St. Vincent's Hospital. After shooting Biggs, Blount ran out of the saloon with the gun in his hands. He changed his mind after going a few steps and ran into the direction of police headquarters,where he gave himself up to the authorities.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 3.—Governor Mann today appointed Parke Poindexter Deans, of Isle of Wight, Colonel on his staff to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Col. John F. Templeton, of Augusta.

LET EVERY DEMOCRAT VOTE TOMORROW.

The oft-quoted signal of Admiral Nelson before the battle of Cape Trafalgar—"England expected every man to do his duty"—may be again referred to on the eve of the State election tomorrow. The party should have the support of every suffragan as it is encouraging, and the thoughtlessness of some who manifest but little interest in elections when there is no contest is deplored by all having the interest of the organization at heart.

The fact that the minority in the state realizes there is not the ghost of a show for candidates against the regular democratic nominees should spur every eligible citizen to vote himself and see that others cast their ballots Napoleon never believed in doing things in a half-hearted manner; he struck from the shoulder every time. The Democrats should demonstrate that their party is a Gibraltar at every election.

Virginia is not the only state where leaders of political parties are compelled to face that demon Unconcern. One of the Baltimore papers this morning has a picture personifying Apathy. A general bearing that name is approaching the political stronghold with a drawn sword. Some may be disposed to regard him as a pigmy, but, like the geni in the bottle drawn from the sea by the fisherman in the Arabian Nights, he sometimes assumes alarming proportions, when given his liberty.

PRAISE FOR SENATOR MARTIN.

A dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Washington discussing the political issues of Virginia and the fact of this States strong representation in Congress pays a splendid tribute to Senator Martin, of this State, who has always received the heartiest support from Alexandria in his various campaigns and who takes a deep interest in the affairs of this city. Among other things the article says:

"Senator Martin, the dean of Virginians, now in public life, is one of the stalwarts of that body and on one has served longer than he except Senators Bacon, of Georgia, and Tillman of South Carolina. Only three Republicans outrank him in point of length of service.

"Not an orator, not even an effective "stumper," Senator Martin, nevertheless, wins battle after battle in a State famed for its orators and its devotion to them. Not a profound statesman of the Webster Benton Thurman type, he is yet kept in Washington by a State whose statesmen founded the republic. Not a great lawyer, still he is followed year in and year out by the descendants of men who followed John Marshall, Stephen Mason and Eppa Hunton.

"Many people therefore have naturally wondered wherein lies the power of Senator Martin over his constituents. They have wondered how it is that he rose from comparative obscurity and defeated that Virginia idol, Fitzhugh Lee, for the Senate, how he defeated the sturdy Hoge Tyler, the brilliant Montague and the aggressive Jones, all for the same office. They have wondered why it is that no successful opponent to this man has ever arisen in the State.

"There may be many reasons, but perhaps the most potent is the loyalty of Thomas S. Martin to his friends, the absolute confidence they have in his word and his readiness to serve them at all hours of the day or night. No man in Virginia or out of it has a record for loyalty to friendship and reciprocity in personal service which eclipses that of Senator Martin.

"It is said that there are more than 10,000 Virginians for whom Senator Martin has gone out of his way to be useful during his twenty years in the Senate. There may be many more for whom he has done some trifling thing. With this body as a nucleus, the Virginian has built up a personal organization that has never been successfully defied when the individual interests of the Senator himself were concerned.

"Couple this personal element with the fact that Senator Martin is an expert organizer, that he is honest, he is able and that he knows just exactly how to get what his people want in Washington and the mystery of the Martin success ceases to be much of a mystery.

"In the Senate the Virginian has a strong following. He was for two years leader of the minority on the floor. Before that he was a member of powerful committees and has formed ties with his colleagues that give him an eminent place in the councils of his party.

"Since the Wilson administration came into power it has had no stronger supporter in the Senate than Senator Martin. He was looked upon as a "reactionary" by many of his younger associates when they come to town, but if measured by loyalty to the Wilson policies no man could be more progressive than the Virginian."

KILLED BY COMPANION.

Boy Receives Bullet in Head as he Steps in Front of Target.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Shooting at a target in a yard at Germantown avenueand Dominion street, Nicetown, yesterday morning, Edward Mullen aged 12 years old of Germantown was acidentally shot in the head by Eugene Gordon, 12 years old. The wounded boy was taken to St. Luke's Homeopathic Hospital, where he died late in the afternoon. His parents are dead and he lived with his aunt, who was with him when he died.

The boys, with two others, were shooting at a target with a rifle. Mullen had taken his turn in firing and handed the rifle to Gordon. As the latter was about to shoot Mullen stepped between him and the target and was shot in the left temple. Gordon and the other boys were arrested and taken to the House of Detention.

WOMEN ATTACK ASQUITH.

Suffragettes Use Dog Whips Upon British Premier.

Edinburg Nov. 3.—Miltant suffragettes ambushed Premier Asquith as he was driving by automobile to Stirling Saturday and belabored him with dog whips. In the car at the time besides the premier were his daughter, Violet, and Sir John Graham, a justice of the peace.

Premier Asquith was set upon outside the village of Bannockburn. Four "wild women" who had been waiting for the automobile, sprang in front of the car and called on the chauffeur to stop. The driver merely slackened speed whereupon one of the fanatics threw herself before the car in a crouching attitude. Only the prompt action of the chauffeur prevented the car from crushing her.

Detectives who were in a car following that of the premier, sprang out and seized the woman, dragging her out of harm's way Meanwhile, the other women ran to the side of the car, and, while one threw cayenne pepper at the occupants, two used dog whips on the premier.

The detectives arrested the four women and bundled them into their car, and took them to the Stirling police station. Premier Asquith, although plentifully besprinkled with red pepper, was unhurt.

FARMERS' CONVENTION.

Governor Mann and Others to Address Gathering.

Hampton, Va., Nov. 3. —Governor William Hodges Mann. Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst, Mass.; Dr. T. N. Carver, director of the rural organization service, Washington, D. C.; Dr. J. D. Eggleston, president of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va. Bradford Knapp, of Washington, D. C., who has charge of the Farmers' Co-Operative Demonstration Work: Dr. James Hardy Dillard, of Charlottesville, Va., and director of the Slater fund—these distinguished men are expected at the coming meeting of the Hampton Institute Farmers' Conference, which will be held on November 19th and 20th.

The main topic for this year's conference will be "corn growing". Special attention will be given to such topics as selection of soil and seed, fertilizing and cultivation.

Charles K. Graham, the director of the Hampton Agricultural Department, has invited the presidents and agricultural directors of the colored land grant colleges. Acceptances have been received from colleges in Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi. Some of the leading schools for colored youths in the South will send representatives to Hampton for the conference. Word has come that representatives from the following schools will be present: Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute, Petersburg, Va.; Saint Paul School, Lawrenceville, Va.; Joseph K Brick Industrial School, Bricks, N. C.; Morgan College, Baltimore, Md., and Tuskegee Institute, Tuskeegee, Ala.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A double suicide was brought to light yesterday when the decomposed bodies of James F. Bly, an 18-year-old medical student Philadelphia, and his 19-year-old bride, were found in the woods near Northfeild, N. J. Bullet wounds in the temple of each, a revolver containing two empty chambers lying between them, and a note signed by both convinced the police that the couple ended their lives as a result of a suicide pact.

After receiving black mail letters demanding $1,000 from the widow of David Eccles and her sons, the home of Leroy Eccles, a member of the family at Ogden, Utah, was dynamited early yesterday morning. The explosion wrecked the front of the residence and seriously damaged the properties of Dr. H. M. Rowe, and Fred G. Taylor. Since April prominent residents of Ogden have been receiving blackmail letters.

Men who suffer from dipsomania to such an extent as to forget to provide for their wives and children in Washington, will no longer receive as in former days, the conventional six months at Occoquan, and a considerable parole at the end of one month's visit. They will be given a sentence of one year, and will stay until their time is out. Judge Latimer has reached this decision after a thorough inspection of Occoquan. Cases of non-support are brought before the judge of Juvenile Court. A precedent has grown up that these men shall be sentenced to six months in the workhouse and then given a chance to go abroad and reform at the end of a month on parole. This practice will be abandoned in future.

With a gun that "wasn't loaded," Forest Maier, son of a councilman and Mrs. Jacob Maier, of Brunswick Md., accidentally shot and killed his 9-year-old brother, Clement West Maier, yesterday. The two boys, hearing so much of the hunting season went into the garret of the house and secured a rifle, stating that they intended using it for today. They took the gun into the dining room of the Maier home, for the purpose of cleaning it, and not knowing the gun was loaded, started to clean it in preparation for a day's sport. The older lad was holding the gun when it was discharged, the bullet striking the younger lad in the temple. Death came instantly.

The "spugs" are on the war path in New York again. This society formed as a protest against the custom of exchanging gifts at Christmas without sentiment, the custom of making Christmas gifts for the sake of expediency, or under any other form or compulsion, was organized last year and carried on a spectacular campaign. As officers of the society for the Prevention of Useless Giving, Mrs. August Belmont, Miss Gertrude Robinson Smith, Miss Anne Morgan and Miss Miriam K. Oliver, have signed the letter calling the "Spugs" to the first rally of the year on November 11.

Declare War on Colds.

A crusade of education which aims "that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation. has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of the "dont's" which the doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the cold:

"Don't sit in a draughty car."
"Don't sleep in hot rooms."
"Don't avoid the fresh air."
"Don't stuff your self at meal time. Overeating reduces your resistance."

To which we would add—when you take a cold get rid of it as quickly as possible. To accomplish this you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most excellent. Sold by all dealers.

DISORDER IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Two Men Shot in Rioting Yesterday.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3.—The first fatality of Indianapolis street car strike came last night, when Isaac Streicher, a strike breaker, was shot and killed by one of his companions shortly before 9 o'clock.

A demonstration was made by strike sympathizers and others in front of the Louisiana street car barns, where the strike breakers are quartered. During the excitement the men inside fired a number of shots from the second story of the building, and one of the bullets struck Streicher in the breast. He died on the way to the hospital. Streicher had joined the crowd outside. He was twenty-three years old and was from Philadelphia.

Sheriff Theodore Portteus refused to assist the police, and charged them with failing to do all in their power toward preserving order.

Governor Ralston declared in interviews with business men and others that he did not believe he should interfere until the police had exhausted every effort to control the crowds and the sheriff had used all the power of his office to maintain order.

Superintendent of Police Hylan had assigned twenty men to duty on any street cars that might be started, and patrolmen boarded cars into which the strike breakers climbed. Streets around the cars had been cleared, and the crowd was packed on the sidewalk when the signals were given for the two cars to start. A squad of strike breakers occupied each car. A rock struck a strike breaker in the face before the first car had reached Illinois street, and the crowd followed the cars.

The trolley flew from the wire on a curve. Immediately the crowd surrounded the car. Johnson was one of the foremost in the crowd. Suddenly the door of the car was opened and a policeman appeared. He fired into the crowd from the rear platform of the car and Johnson was struck. The arrival of other policemen prevented further trouble.

VICTIM OF FOOTBALL.

Star With Neck Broken, Concerned Only for Mother.

Phoenixville, Pa., Nov. 3.—His neck broken and suffering partial paralysis, George H. Gay, captain of the Union Club football team, and a victim of Saturday's game with Pottstown, is the most cheerful and hopeful of those about him in the Phoenixville Hospital, though he realizes that death is almost certain. His only concern is for his mother, whose home is in Blackington, Mass.

Gay was the former star of the Ursinus College team, and his wonderful individual work for his college team won for it a signal victory over Pennsylvania at Franklin Field, several years ago. For the past two seasons he has been the playing coach of the Union Club, of this place. The injured man is 27 years old. He was working his way through college and worked in the iron mills here during vacations.

The Union Club will abandon its schedule for the season and will constitute itself a relief organization to raise funds for the care of Gay.

VIRGINIAN WANTS RELEASE.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 3.—William T. Garrett, 68 years old, of Eastville, Northampton county, Va., has filed papers in the Circuit Court here for an absolute divorce from his bride of three weeks, who before her marriage was Miss Viola Kellam, of this city. Garrett alleges that undue influence exerted by Miss Kellam to induce him to marry her.

The papers set forth that Miss Kellam advised Garrett to visit a spiritualist which he did, and he was advised by the spiritualist to wed a girl in Baltimore. The fortune teller even described the young woman to Garrett and mentioned her initials. A few days later Garrett and Miss Kellam were secretly married at Ellicott City, near here. Garrett was lavishly entertained and supplied with liquors previous to his marriage.

The Virginian declared that he was engaged to wed a Virginia matron and that his marriage to Miss Kellam was a scheme. Garret is a landowner and lumber merchant, and is reputed to have property valued at $100,000. He was a widower before his recent marriage and has grown children. The suit will be fought by the present Mrs. Garrett

FRANK DENIED NEW TRIAL.

Man Sentenced to Death for Murder to Take Appeal.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3.—Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang for the murder of Mary Phagan, Friday, was denied a new trial by Judge L. S. Roan, who presided over the trial at which Frank was convicted. This decision means that Frank's only hope now lies in the Supreme Court, to which an immediate appeal will be taken. In announcing the decision Judge Roan said:

"I have heard all the evidence in this case, and, taking it all together, I am not thoroughly convinced either as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. The jury having passed upon this case and having been convinced by the evidence of his guilt, however, I do not feel disposed to overturn its verdict. I consider it my duty to overrule the motion."

Counsel for Frank had sought to obtain a new trial, alleging that certain members of the jury were prejudiced against Frank, and that a fair trial was impossible because of popular feeling against the defendant.

More than 100 "reasons in behalf of a new trial" were presented. One was the contention that there was prejudice against Frank because he is a Jew. The defendant is president of the Atlanta B'nai B'rith, having been re-elected to this office since his conviction.

"I am prepared for anything," Frank was quoted as saying after he heard of Judge Roan's decision. "As I have said before, I know nothing about the murder or the murderer."

SLIP OF THE TONGUE.

Dr. Holmes Conrad Causes a Stir While Delivering A Lecture.

"William the Conqueror abolished capital punishment in England, but when he did so, he substituted as punishment for criminals various kinds of mutilation. One who committed murder had his nose cut off, his lips cut away or an ear lopped off. The criminal was known wherever he went. In these modern days, when there is so frequently an overflow of public sympathy for criminals, it might be well that the old custom be revived."

Dr. Holmes Conrad, professor of the history and development of jurisprudence and teacher of the history of English law in the Georgetown University law school, so addressed a classroom filled with postgraduates. He depicted with gesture and careful description, the agony of criminals branded for their crimes so that all the world might know. He impressed upon his class the fact that the ruthless kings of early days had method in their madness.

"Who was that man in Kentucky who killed another man and was later sent to Congress" inquired Dr. Conrad, to illustrate his theme.

The classroom was quiet, like a sealed tomb. There was a craning of necks and uneasy shifting about in chairs.

A student in the front row said something. Dr. Conrad, surprised at being interrupted during his lecture, paused.

"I beg your pardon, I did not understand," said Dr. Conrad.

"I am that man. I was not guilty."

The reply was made in an even voice. The classroom, shocked at the situation, turned its eyes upon an unexcited man in the front row. He was Caleb Powers, congressman from the eleventh Kentucky district, who served eight years, eight months and three days in prison on the charge of assassinating William Goebel. He was graduated from GeorKetown University Law School last year, and is now taking a post-graduate course.

Dr. Conrad was visibly affected by the reply, but made only a perfunctory apology and continued with his lecture. But when the professor concluded he apologized to Mr. Powers, saying that when he asked in an accusing voice about the Kentucky incident he had completely forgotten the names of the principals in that famous affair of politics and blood. Dr. Conrad was not aware he assured Mr. Powers, that the representative was a member of the class.
